CITIES THAT REQUIRE A "BUILDING REPORT" PRE-SALE INSPECTION REPORTS

Below is a list of cities in California which have adopted ordinances that require a "pre-sale" property report. This means that before an escrow can close and property can be transferred, the City has to disclose to the Buyer what is on the City records as to the status of the property, its permits, violations, and compliance with its building code ordinances. Most city reports require a fee to be paid. Please check with the local agency to get updated information. Information below is deemed reliable, but accuracy is not guaranteed.
